FALL 2022 HORTICULTURE SEMINAR SERIES
HORT 507/607

SEPT 27 – Redistribution and establishment of Trissolcus japonicus, a biological control agent of brown marmorated stink bug, in Oregon
Claire Donahoo, Ph.D Candidate, Department of Horticulture, Oregon State University

OCT 4 – Blueberry breeding and genomic prediction
Lillian Hislop, USDA HCPGiRU Postdoc

OCT 11 – Grapevine Rootstock Breeding: Past, Present, and Future
Jeremy Schuster, M.S. Graduate Research Assistant

OCT 18 – Cultivating Change: Valuing and Elevating LGBTQ+ Agriculturists
Kirk Maag, Partner, Stoel Rives LLP

OCT 25 – Pulsing of Drip Irrigation Improves Growth and Production of Pacific Northwest Blueberry and Raspberry Crops
Jesse Carroll, PhD Candidate, Department of Horticulture, Oregon State University

NOV 1 – Organics & OMRI: Bridging the Gap Between Government Standards and Certified Farming Practices
Hayley E. Park, Technical Coordinator, Technical Department, Organic Materials Review Institute (OMRI)

NOV 8 – Grape smoke exposure and smoke taint in wine
Elizabeth Tomasino, Associate Professor, Food Science & technology

NOV 15 – Solve Pest Problems — A New Information Resource for the Pacific Northwest
Weston Miller, Community Horticulturist, Department of Horticulture, OSU Extension Service

NOV 22 – Updates in Weed Management in Horticultural Crops
Marcelo Moretti, Assistant Professor, Horticulture, OSU

TUESDAYS
12:00 PM / NOON
ALS 4001 & ZOOM

Information about the course is available by contacting the Seminar Coordinator, Andony Melathopoulos at:
andony.melathopoulos@oregonstate.edu